Projects

- A healthcare learning chatbot-Treatment and home remedies
  A chatbot giving medicinal knowledge about flowers, species and household ingredients. And it also provides remedies when we are giving symptoms as queries. In the project, we use stochastic gradient descent for minimizing error rate produced during model creation.
- Loan prediction using machine learning
  To give an easier way for predicting whether the customer able to repay the loan given by the bank Or not using their previous data. It takes less time to predict. We use a logistic regression algorithm for training the data.
